VETERANS INFORMATION AND SERVICE

By Melvin T. Dixon
State Service Officer

Here is a brief analysis of Public Law 239, 83rd Congress, which will be of particular interest to members or former members of the uniformed services who have been awarded retired, retirement or retainer pay.

The essential points of the law, this law is titled "an act to permit members of the uniformed services to elect certain contingency options."

Effective date of this Act is November 1, 1953.

Under terms of Act uniformed personnel, both active and retired, who desire to leave a portion of their retired pay for their survivors may elect.

At present time retired pay ceases with the death of the retired person.

Basically, the Act allows the substitution of a reduced joint survivors annuity for the straight life annuity now being paid.

If the retired person so desires he may choose for his survivor an annuity equal to 1/4 or 1/2 of his reduced retired pay. Then his retired pay is reduced by an "actual equivalent" based on the retired member's age and the age of his beneficiary.

To use this option plan, the active duty person must elect of 18 years service or if he has option before he must have must already served more than 180 days from November 1, 1953. Person already retired must also elect within 180 days from Nov. 1-53.

Annuitants payable under this Act shall be additional to any pensions to which beneficiaries may receive now or later, and shall not be considered as income under any law administered by the VA.

The public may get a chance to see an atomic bomb if the plan of President Eisenhower is carried out during the "50th Anniversary of Flight" in December is carried out, reports Aviation Week, McGraw Hill publication.

Chicago — Are women safer drivers than men?
Well, you can't prove it by the National Safety Council. In its 1953 edition of "Accident Facts," its statistical yearbook, the Council is forced to beg the question because no one knows how many miles each sex drives.

The Council knows that eight out of 100 drivers involved in fatal accidents in 1952 were women. Drivers of the fairer sex figured in 12 out of 100 motor vehicle accidents of all types.

But there are not as many women drivers as men, and since one knows how much less, the argument must go on, and even the authoritative National Safety Council can't settle it.

In the new and expanded Sunday school set-up of the First Baptist Church these folding doors enable each class to be shut off by itself during study period and enable this group to be assembled as one group merely by folding back the doors.

The doors are made for all types of openings in private homes, hotels, commercial institutions as well as churches.

Florida's Growth Banks HIGH WITH OTHER STATES
The development of Florida, measured statistically, shows a rate of growth which outstrips national averages in all major aspects.

Florida's stems stem from as well as contribute to its population growth, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce pointed out yesterday. From 1940 to mid-1953, the population of the state increased 77 percent as compared with the nation's 21 percent gain.

Other growth measures of Florida, 1940 through 1953, with comparable national gains are given in this week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division. Bank deposits in Florida were up 398 percent and 206 percent nationally. Florida retail sales gained 414 percent as compared with 289 percent nationwide.

Life insurance in force in Florida was 307 percent more in 1952 than in 1940 and up 139 percent throughout the nation. Florida's gross personal receipts grew 232 percent while national receipts increased 153 percent. Gross cash farm income in Florida was 307 percent more and the nation's farmers received 165 percent more.

Although total income of Floridians increased 354 percent as compared with the national figure of 277 percent, the per capita income of Floridians fell slightly below the national average gain of 165 percent.

There were 135 percent more passenger cars registered in Florida and 60 percent more on the nation's highways. Florida truck and tractor registrations were up 159 percent, nationally 101 percent. Electric power production in Florida increased 462 percent and 219 percent nationally. Manufacturing payrolls gained 403 percent in Florida and 307 percent throughout the nation. Federal internal revenue collections in Florida grew 1031 percent during the period compared with 831 percent nationally.

Contrasting highly with these gains and pointing to the need for continued conservation practices, Florida's 1951 lumber cut the latest available figure was 5 percent below the 1940 cut. National production rose 28 percent.

These accordion doors provide an attractive contrast with surrounding walls and are covered with washable, flame resistant vinyl-coated fabric in a wide selection of color tones. The doors are easy to keep clean.

In the new and expanded Sunday school set-up of the First Baptist Church these folding doors enable each class to be shut off by itself during study period and enable this group to be assembled as one group merely by folding back the doors.

The doors are made for all types of openings in private homes, hotels, commercial institutions as well as churches.

Florida's Growth Banks HIGH WITH OTHER STATES
The development of Florida, measured statistically, shows a rate of growth which outstrips national averages in all major aspects.

Florida's stems stem from as well as contribute to its population growth, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce pointed out yesterday. From 1940 to mid-1953, the population of the state increased 77 percent as compared with the nation's 21 percent gain.

Other growth measures of Florida, 1940 through 1953, with comparable national gains are given in this week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division. Bank deposits in Florida were up 398 percent and 206 percent nationally. Florida retail sales gained 414 percent as compared with 289 percent nationwide.

Life insurance in force in Florida was 307 percent more in 1952 than in 1940 and up 139 percent throughout the nation. Florida's gross personal receipts grew 232 percent while national receipts increased 153 percent. Gross cash farm income in Florida was 307 percent more and the nation's farmers received 165 percent more.

Although total income of Floridians increased 354 percent as compared with the national figure of 277 percent, the per capita income of Floridians fell slightly below the national average gain of 165 percent.

There were 135 percent more passenger cars registered in Florida and 60 percent more on the nation's highways. Florida truck and tractor registrations were up 159 percent, nationally 101 percent. Electric power production in Florida increased 462 percent and 219 percent nationally. Manufacturing payrolls gained 403 percent in Florida and 307 percent throughout the nation. Federal internal revenue collections in Florida grew 1031 percent during the period compared with 831 percent nationally.

IMPRESSIVE CORONATION SERVICE PRESENTED BY GIRLS' AUXILIARY

The Girls' Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church of Belle Glade held a very impressive coronation service at the church Wednesday, Sept. 23 at 8 o'clock.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms, white chrysanthemums, green and white foliage and lighted tapers in candelabra. In pastel formal gowns the girls entered in accordance to the steps they had passed in the work of their organization which fosters missions through detailed studies of scripture, mission books, mission history and actual organization of missions at the various fields.

As each candidate came to the platform she was questioned about the work she had accomplished and gave examples of her work which gave the audience an insight of simple scriptures, elaborate biographical sketches and long memory work learned following from Exodus (15:2).

The coronation was presided over by the pastor, Rev. J. H. Waldron, who presented the girls to the church and gave them the benediction.

THIS WEEK'S SERMONETTE

Taken from Heart and Life

"dwelleth in God, and God in him." This means that God has complete control of the whole man.

A love-controlled life is free from fear—fear of what people may say, fear of death, for "perfect love casteth out fear."

This does not mean altogether natural fear is necessary in every one for self-protection, but the slavish fear that hinders our Christian usefulness. The fear that keeps one from the ready conversation about Christ, prompt testimony, the natural tone of voice in prayer. Perfect love will make one natural in the discharge of his duties as a Christian. Life is not endured, but enjoyed.

Christ had His eye on the religious cowards when He said, "Whoever, therefore, shall be ashamed of Me and My words, of him also shall the Son of Man be ashamed when He cometh in the glory of His Father with the holy angels."

The Apostle says, "And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, to the end He may establish your hearts unblameable in holiness."

Here, then, is a panacea for weak-kneed Christians.

"God is Love, and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him."

Love is the most winsome thing in the world. Men who can be driven are not worth driving. If we cannot love an enemy to death then he will always be an enemy.

If the life is to be controlled by love, the heart must be filled with love, and no heart is completely filled with love until it is cleansed from all sin and filled with the Holy Spirit.

"God is Love, and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him."

"God is Love, and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him."

"God is Love, and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him."

GUN SAFETY through education is the aim of the National Rifle Association. Special permission has been granted this column to quote from an article on this subject in the current issue of The American Rifleman. As recently noted, good eye-sight is a "must" for hunters. So now to quote from the article:

"Let us look first at the record of the National Rifle Association. The thousands of senior and junior shooting clubs affiliated with us have as a cardinal principle knowledge of guns and their proper handling. In its 82 years of existence there is no single record of a serious accident or fatality on the ranges under their supervision. During the past 32 years more than two million youngsters have participated in our junior shooting programs with only two minor accidents on record. Instruction in the rules of safety has invariably been given in the rules of shooting—a system that certainly has paid dividends."

"The record was made under the controlled conditions of the rifle range. Will the same system work if it is applied to the hunter? Let us look at what happened in Iowa."

"During the past three years NRA members in the state and Iowa's Fish Wildlife and Conservation agency have conducted an intensive and broad gun safety program at the beginning of each hunting season. The result has been most gratifying for the hunting accident rate has fallen almost to the vanishing point."

"Gun safety through education has been clearly demonstrated in New York State. There, in accordance with a law adopted in 1949 every prospective young hunter must present a certificate that he has satisfactorily completed a course of instruction in the elements of safe firearms handling before he can obtain his first hunting license."

"Realizing the importance of gun safety through education the National Rifle Association has taken another long step forward in its campaign against hunting accidents. In cooperation with the National Education association it has produced and this month made available for use throughout the nation a new, improved, comprehensive Hunter Safety Course. The course is adapted for use in any community where alert, public-spirited citizens, either as individuals or as a group, desire to apply to the problem of hunting accidents the same principles of safety education that have been so successful in the automobile driver's education field. Every inexperienced hunter, whether he is 16 or 60, may benefit from the few hours of instruction provided."

"We cannot in the nature of things expect to achieve monumental results overnight, but there are certain things which we can do in our struggle against careless and negligent gun handling. The first, and most important thing is to carry on a continuous campaign of public information. Through the newspapers, magazines, radio, TV, through all media available we must hammer away at the theme of gun safety through education. We must encourage the inclusion of a course in proper gun handling in our local schools... caution and competence through education will be the foundation stone of all our efforts... gun safety... hunter safety... through EDUCATION."

"FURTHER, this fall, like gold, will be where you find it. I know some Florida sportsmen who have made plans to hunt in Canada, some of them in Alberta and Manitoba, others in the James Bay wilderness sector. For my own part, I have been checking on the possibilities in some dozen states, and Cuba, the past couple of months. There is, of course, a little hunting left in Florida, back of the ten million 'POSTED' signs. But the quail outlook at Lakeland, GEORGIA looked mighty good to me on a recent visit to the state capital. The quail population increases the hunting becomes less; and the recent announcement about there being 160,000,000 humans in the country now will not be classed as good news by America's hunters."

"PHEASANT shooting in the Dakotas will be 'out' for non-residents this autumn. These notes are being written of two recent visits to South Dakota, where I contacted old friends with whom I have hunted Dakota pheasants in other years. There will be a fair crop of pheasants this Fall in South Dakota, but legal limits will be so small that a trip for the purpose of pheasant-shooting would hardly be worth while. The same is true for Nebraska, Minnesota and Iowa, the three other best pheasant states. The last really good Dakota pheasant hunting was 7 years ago. So much for that."

Therefore, I urged Major General Sam Sturgis, Chief of the Army Engineers, to fly down to Florida to see first hand the potentially dangerous situation created by high water throughout South Florida. Efforts also were made to have personal inspections made by as many members of Congress as possible. Congressman Syd Herlong is escorting the House Committee on Agriculture through the state the most seriously affected area this week.

The Chairman Abney Cox and other officers of the Central and South Florida Flood Control District already have made an earnest, personal plea to the administration to revise its attitude toward support of our vital flood control program. The ominous conditions in the Everglades now brings home to all of us how short-sighted is the type of economy which has virtually scuttled this program, and brought us to the shadow of another disaster, from which we are saved only by the whims of the winds in the Caribbean."

We are continuing to preach the story that all Florida people know of this program's need and hope that it will not take a great loss of life and property to open the eyes of this administration.

Subsequent to my last week's comment on the subject, President Eisenhower made his speech in Boston in which he referred to our Bipartisan Foreign Policy. There was an indication that there may be some changes to bring a higher degree of bipartisanship into our foreign policy. I certainly hope this is true although so far there has been no specific moves in that direction. So far as we know there has not been the expatriation among the leaders of both parties alike in decisions which actually establish the basic framework from which our foreign policy must be carried out. I think there should be more such consultation on the highest level.

Opposing Sales Tax. Agitation appears to continue for federal sales tax to meet revenue needs. I personally have studied this suggestion and have become unalterably opposed to it. Such a tax would be particularly odious to Florida where we already are paying a state sales tax. To pile a federal sales tax upon this sales tax would be pyramiding a burden upon those citizens least able to pay, would substantially increase the cost of living and create new hardships, injustices and discriminations many times more serious than those that exist even now, and toward the correction of which much energy is being directed by those in Congress who formulate tax policies.

Our New Farmers of America organization which makes up 65 boys registered in High School grades 9-12 will hold a regular monthly meeting on Thursday, Oct. 8. One objective of this meeting is to elect three more officers to complete the eight officer roster this year.

The second objective of this meeting is to appoint the committee that can work out the NFPA Program for the year.

Due to high water the land laboratory farm area program has been delayed. We hope to secure a tractor plow from one local farmer in order to properly turn the dried grass and other veg-

The classroom for our agricultural classes has recently been painted. The shop building will be painted this week. We are trying to get everything in order before our state and district officials come down this fall on a visitation day.
